New Faces, New Places

By Todd Perkins

There are a lot of new faces on campus this year, and we're not just talking about freshmen! Since last spring, there have been a number of changes in the Avila faculty and staff. There are new faces as well as familiar faces in new places.

Sister Joan Marie Harris, Ph.D. is our new Vice President and Dean for Academic Affairs. (G. Richard Scott, who formerly held this post, will be Avila's first Director of Planned Giving.) Sister Marie Joan is well known among the science majors, having been a faculty member for seventeen years. In fact, she was elected Professor of the Year in 1985.

Sister was instrumental in the founding of the Medical Technology and Allied Health fields, and chaired the Natural Science Department for four years. Her administrative experience also extends to St. Joseph Health Center, where she is a trustee, and was active in the hospital's corporate reorganization.

Because of her outstanding record and background, of which only a part is mentioned here, she was chosen for this post out of over 80 applicants. Sister Marie Joan can now be found in Blasco, supervising areas related to transfers, registration, testing, continuing education, and all student academic programs.

Another familiar face in a new place is Dan Larson, the new Humanities Chairman. Humanities combines the former Performing and visual arts department, Communications, philosophy and theology, as well as music and languages.

This is the start of Dan's eleventh year at Avila. He began as a music instructor, then in 1983 he became coordinator of the music division. Dan has his masters and Bachelors degrees in music, and is currently a doctoral candidate in musical art.

According to Dan, his position can be described as a type of "middleman between the faculty and the administration: in that I'm part faculty and part administration". One of his greatest concerns is getting the department a greater campus visibility and recognition -- Humanities is not only new, it's strong! All the other constituents buy into the department. Dan is also very concerned with building a sense of community and making the department into an even stronger cohesive unit.

Dan finds that the new post is not only challenging, but offers opportunities to grow professionally. He finds that everyone has been very helpful, supportive and positive in regards to the new department. Officially Dan has only two courses and four to six voice students to teach with his new responsibilities.

Anyone who has wandered through Marian Centre since school started might have seen Susan Dumay, Avila's new Central Reservationist. As you might guess from the name, Susan keeps track of the reservations for the various rooms and the school van. She also, however, is in charge of student I.D.'s (Oh! so that's where I've seen her!) and is the liaison for catering on campus. As Susan puts it, she allocates space usage for on-campus organizations and lots of other small but important stuff.

Susan graduated with a bachelors degree in English and a business minor from K.U. She spent a nine month internship in Washington D.C. with the department of Housing and Urban Development. Before coming to work here, the only person she knew from Avila was a friend in nursing. Now, on the other hand, she's getting a lot more exposure to the real Avila.

One of the challenges in her new job is finding new areas where she can be effective, such as a mass computerization of records, to save time as well as space. Susan's leadership and assertiveness training will come in handy as she searches for other avenues to explore so that she can reach her fullest potential. Susan is also a big basketball fan and used to show horses. She is an active alumna of her sorority -- Alpha Omicron Pi, and also loves canoeing. As for her long range goals, someday Susan would like to own and operate a bookstore with a coffeeshop in back, where people could go to read newly purchased papers or books, or just chat.

Avila Represented During Pope's Visit to New Orleans

By Patrick C. Wood

Thousands of people gathered in the streets of New Orleans, Louisiana, to greet Pope John Paul Il as he rode through the city, September 12. New Orleans was one of the ten cities visited by the Pope during his ten day pilgrimage to the United States. In this crowd were five familiar faces from Avila: Dr. Larry Kramer, Mrs. Kramer, Sister Olive Louise, Cindy Cook, and Michelle Graff. They served as delegates, invited by the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities, to represent Avila at a special academic convocation held in honor of His Holiness, Pope John Paul II.

"It was a chance of a lifetime," exclaimed Cindy Cook, Junior Nursing Major. "I felt very privileged and grateful to Avila for the opportunity."

"The Pope passed in front of our hotel Saturday morning -- I could have reached out and touched him if I wasn't so busy taking pictures," said Michelle Graff, Junior Psychology/Political Science Major.

The delegation arrived in New Orleans Friday afternoon, September 11. Saturday afternoon they attended a Mass at the Hyatt for those participating in the convocation. Following the Mass, they took a bus to Xavier University where they, along with a crowd of 2500-3000 others, gathered in a courtyard to listen to the Pope's

"The crowd wasn't as big as I thought it would be; we sat in the eleventh row; but there were secret service men everywhere. They checked our purses and cameras, then we had to walk through a metal detector," said Cindy. "I remember seeing nuns standing on the metal chairs trying to get photos of the Pope," added Michelle.

"The Pope spoke for 30-45 minutes. In his address he spoke of Catholic education and the importance of continuing it," recalled Cindy and Michelle.

At the end of the convocation, during his procession out, the Pope stopped and held the hand of Dr. Kramer. At a recent Mass held here at Avila, Dr. Kramer recalled how he felt at that moment. "I was so ecstatic that I forgot about eating that night." For Dr. Kramer, representing Avila, witnessing the event, and holding hands with the Pope, were his special memories.

According to Cindy Cook, her highlights were "seeing the Pope, being able to listen to him, and being as close as I was; going with Sister Olive Louise and Dr. Kramer, and shaking Bryant Gumbel's hand."

"My highlight was probably being so close to the Pope. I never expected it. It was such a thrill!! When I was younger I pictured the Pope as being poised; but looking through the binoculars, I saw a natural human being," concluded Michelle Graff.

The Chaplain's Corner

By Fr. Mike Zahorchak

Here's a 'trivia' question concerning some members of the Avila College Family:

Ques: What do Dr. Kramer, his wife Jan, Sr. Olive Louise. Michelle Graff, Cindy Cook & Fr. Mike have in common?

They all saw the Pope on Ans: his recent 9 day visit to the United States. There is one difference, though -- it's the difference between New Orleans & Detroit (about 1,150 miles, to be exact.)

And like Dr. Kramer, at the Mass for the Opening of School, I'd like to share some impressions of my visit to Detroit. Here they are, encapsulated in:

1. The tremendous amount of joyous anticipation before the arrival of John Paul II, and a greater amount of pride among the Catholic people, who comprise 65% of the metropolitan Detroit population after his departure.

2. The media exposure, as to monetary value, amounting to tens of millions of dollars, and which cost the Catholic Church nothing. This included 4 headlines of the morning and evening editions of both the DETROIT NEWS and DE-TROIT FREE PRESS. Included in this figure are: seven radio stations coverage and four T.V. stations (Channel 4 was a 24 hour minuteby-minute description of everything Papal & Detroit.)

3. The great crowds of people from all over the Midwest and suburban Canada (Windsor & London, Ontario), despite the drizzly weather and the inevitable traffic congestion.

4. The happy faces and tears of joy when the Pope addressed the people of the predominately Polish-Urkainian section of Hamtramck in their native languages.

5. The foolhardiness (courage ?) of the small group of 3 anti-Catholic fundamentalists who stood on a street corner of the Pope's route, in the same area, passing out leaflets, clutching a Bible, and calling the Pope the "Anti-Christ", while, in the same breath, referring to Catholicism as 'the great heresy'. (They were quickly surrounded by police because of the grumblings of the offended and insulted bystanders, and escorted, posthaste, out of the neighborhood.)

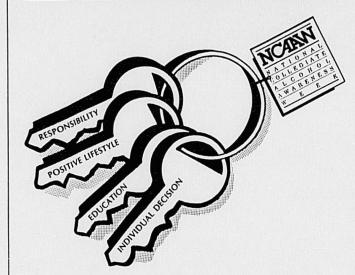

6. The airplane which flew over Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit, on the riverfront (where the Pope was to give an address and be entertained by various ethnic groups, including Aretha Franklin and the Gospel choir from her father's church) and trailed a sign reading: "Atheism - Another Option".

7. The standing - room - only crowd of 90,000 in the Silverdome in Pontiac where the Pope celebrated a 2-hour Mass, after which the people lingered and listened to the 1,200 voice 'all-parish' choir sing and entertain them.

8. The heavy police security everywhere because, to quote an officer, "The Pope is the most threatened personage in the world".

9. The afterglow of 'thrust-outchest and button-popping' pride which eloquently, and with magnificent quiet, proclaimed, "I'm so proud to be a Catholic".

Whether your career goals or interests are in broadcasting, reporting, promotion, writing, or acting, Avila's new Communication Club is here for you. Newly organized for the 1987-88 school year, the Communication Club plans to increase your knowledge of available opportunities in the communication field and give you experience that you can use later on, all within a social atmosphere. This year, the group will be led by cochairmen Patrick Wood, Debby Amos, and Jeff Barker, and will be advised by Communications Department Coordinator Bill Covington and instructor Jennifer McKenna. Last year the club presented Roberta Solomon, KMBR-FM radio personality and host of KSHB-TV's "Creature Feature" program. This quality and entertaining program is the kind that the group would like to build upon this year. In addition to guest speakers, Avila's Communication Club wants to give its members opportunities to work in the field, travel to visit professionals, and act as an information clearinghouse for communications information.

Social events will be planned to bring the Avila communications community together and to show students what we have to offer. Broadcasting will be far from the only focus of the group. Experiences in promotion, writing, and many other communication-related fields will be explored. The Communications Club will be enjoyable and informative, and you can be a part of it now! Our next meeting will be Monday evening, October 12th, 6-7 p.m., in the Barefoot Room, Marian Centre. You don't even have to be a communications major to join. If you are interested in any facet of communication, we invite you to become a part of our new, exciting group, the Avila Communication Club.

Mike Gilgannon: A Voice Cries Out

By Tim Barchak

The week of September 7-14, Father Michael Gilgannon, one of the Catholic Church's foremost experts on Latin America and strongest advocates for social justice, was in Kansas City. Father Gilgannon, a priest from the Diocese of Kansas City -- St. Joseph, has been serving as a missionary to Bolivia since 1974. Gilgannon is an accomplished author and

I was fortunate to speak with Fr. Gilgannon at UMKC's Newman Center. The agile mind of the priest easily fielded questions ranging from theology to international economics. For the sake of brevity, I have chosen to discuss only three issues that concerned Gilgannon: Latin America, social justice at the parish level, and Catholic higher

Fr. Gilgannon perceives the fate of the United States to be joined with that of Latin America. Corrupt Latin governments have borrowed excessively from U.S. banks since the 1960's, resulting in a debt crisis. The facade of a strong U.S. economy could be shattered without the continual flow of interest payments from the South. Gilgan-non remarks that "The excess of the United States is financed by the Third World." Those suffering the most from the present situation are the poor of Latin America. Their governments cut money from social help plans and increase cash crops for export to pay the debts. Hardships from these stringency programs lead to unrest in the nations.

Fr. Gilgannon states that the civil discontent of Latin America is misunderstood by the North. Communism is blamed for social revolt, rather than economic and political inequalities. Gilgannon does not see the Soviet Union in the role of a direct and immediate agitator: "The Russians plan to pick up the pieces after the U.S. alienates the people.'

The role of the parish priest in social justice was also addressed by Gilgannon. During his visit to K.C., the missionary persuaded priests to preach social justice from the pulpit. He noted that many priests were afraid of being "too political" or of "stirring up trouble" in their parishes.

Finally, Gilgannon spoke about the role of Catholic colleges and universities in the promotion of peace and justice. According to Gilgannon, there is "... a need to rethink the direction of Catholic education", because of several problems that have appeared. First, Catholic schools have failed to reach out to blacks and hispanics. In the past, these schools educated the sons and daughters of working class immigrants. Today, the same interest has not been shown for working class minorities. Second, many Catholic schools have business programs that fail to teach business ethics. The Bishop's Economic Pastoral should be used as a guide for future programs. Third, Catholic colleges and universities have become fearful of risk taking. Survival of the institution has become paramount. The maintenance of endowments forces the closing of ranks, the silencing of debate and

"A voice cries out: In the desert prepare the way of the Lord! Make straight in the wasteland a highway for our God!" Is. 40,3-4. From Isaiah to Gilgannon, the legacy and the challenge is passed to a new generation.

Rapid Results with No Sweat

By Chrissy Effertz

Are you tired of working out at the gym and finding that sweat is a never-ending battle? Do you find yourself in the whirlpool, instead of on the stationary bike? Do you no longer have the stamina for a rigorous exercise routine? If any of the above apply, then it sounds as if Rapid Results is the place for you!

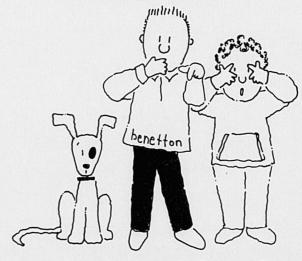

Rapid Results, which is located at 11133 Locust in the Red Bridge shopping center, is a center which introduces passive exercising. Kevin Ruby, who is the owner of Rapid Results will take you through six different workout tables. These exercise tables were developed over thirty years ago by a doctor who would use them as physical therapy for his patients. The patent has recently been released on these beds, so now they are being used at different toning centers.

Working out for eight minutes on each table is comparable to forty-eight minutes of floor exercises. The multitude of repetitions causes the muscles to contract and expand. This in turn tears away the fatty tissue from the muscle mass and leads to a loss of inches. "The difference between the gym and Rapid Results is that here you are taking the fat off and toning; whereas the gym you are toning the fat into muscle", says Kevin.

Kevin says that this program is for both male and female, and

Avila Women Setting Up for Great Season

By Mike McCollow

The Avila women's volleyball team, who have competed in two major tournaments and two dual matches since we last went to press, have started to come into their own. After a tough time at the Missouri Southern Tournament, Avila started on a six-game winning streak where they swept through every match 2-0. During that stretch, only twice did opponents score more than ten points. Included in this streak were victories over district teams Mo. Valley, Mo. Baptist, and School of the Ozarks. Four of these wins came at the start of the Avila Tournament, which put the women into the semifinals. After being defeated by an overwhelmingly tough Mo. Southern squad, the women lost a heartbreaker to rival Rockhurst. The third-place game between Avila and Rockhurst was an emotion-filled match that saw the first game seesaw back and forth until Rockhurst finally prevailed 15-13. Avila then jumped out to a 7-1 lead in game two, before running out of gas and succumbing 15-8. They got back on the winning track immediately by beating Tarkio and St. Mary's at Tuesday's home dual match. The win over Tarkio raised their district record to 5-4, and their overall record to 13-8. Freshman Tina Caldwell of Shawnee Mission West High, felt that the winning streak really helped the team's confidence. "We really started to play well during that stretch. We were full of emotion during our tourney, and we really started to feel we could play with anybody. We just need to get over the top. We are going to have to be more consistent if we are going to beat the best teams."

Hopefully consistency will come. The team has shown they have all the tools, it's now time to get it all together.

Soccer Team Enjoys National Ranking

By Mike McCollow

The Avila men's soccer team. with recent victories over Westminster, Tarkio, SW MO State, and Missouri Rolla raised their season record to 6-2-2. In the four games, Avila showed great team defense as no opponent scored more than 2 goals. Without All-American and high scoring forward Mike Corrigan Avila was forced to get their scoring from others. Jack Park, Dave Reichert, Scott Anderson and the rest have seen to it that the ball still gets put in the net. With the consistent play of goalkeeper Dan Mabrey, and a strong, aggressive defense, Avila has enjoyed the luxury of not having to score many. Included in that stretch of four wins was an impressive match with Division 1 SW MO St., where Avila pretty well controlled the entire game, winning 3-1. Getting tallies for the men were Reichert, Anderson, and freshman Dave Ulrich. This win was noted in Monday's edition of USA TODAY, which also noted the men's national ranking of 16th. A tough loss to Mo. Southern on Wednesday will hopefully fire the troops up for Sunday's match with annual rival Rockhurst. There is no love lost between the two teams, or between the two schools for that matter, and Sunday is the chance the squad has been looking forward to since last year. Goalie Mabrey felt the team didn't have their best effort against Southern, and feels that this will only help them prepare for Rockhurst.

ASNO Enthusiasm

The Avila Student Nurse's Organization (ASNO) is currently underway for the 1987-88 school year. ASNO is open to all prenursing and nursing majors; freshman through senior year. The organization is now actively recruiting enthusiastic nursing hopefuls to come share their ideas and input to make this the best year ever. Meetings are scheduled for the first Monday of the month at 12:30 in the Holmes Room in Borserine

To kick off the 1987-88 year, ASNO actively participated in a fund raiser selling Tupperware to increase club funds. Currently plans are being made for a hayride tentatively scheduled for mid-October.

If you are interested in ASNO, or have any suggestions/questions, contact any of the 1987-88 officers: Val Hill, Angie Davis, Paula Childress, Lynnette Hayes, or any currently active ASNO member.

If you are a new nursing major, or returning nursing student -- come see what YOUR organization has to offer.

recommends at least three visits a week. If you'd like to give it a try, the first visit is free. He says that it takes about six visits to really see the inch loss. The set of six visits is priced at $37.50. Rapid Results also offers the latest in tanning, too. Like the beds, the first visit is free, then they start at $6 for a visit. So, if you'd like to try a painless exercise, try Rapid Results. It's no sweat!

To RH Staff:

As a result of your undivided concern, cooperation, and moral support -- the dinner salads are on me! THANKS -- September isn't so bad after all!!

Beth

I couldn't find any chalk, Susan Waggerman -- so I thought I would send a special hello via the newspaper. HELLO SUSAN!!

-Guess Who?

You are constantly in my prayers, Liz Moran ... I love you!

Good luck with Salt Water Moon, Fran. I know you will do fine: Just remember these two words: ensemble and concentration.

Thanks for your support, Beth Maren!

-Fred

Happy 21st Birthday, Candis.

Fred: You are the sunshine of my life!!

-Freida

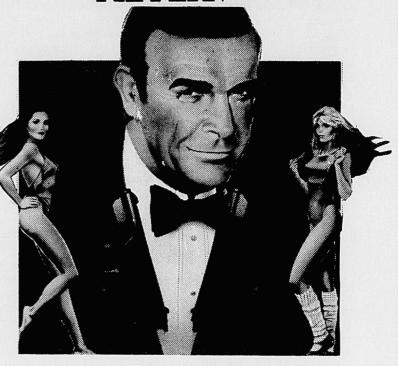

I'm sorry, I have to work on the 3rd, sweetie. Hopefully upstairs didn't turn you down.

Happy, happy Homecoming, DD!! Best wishes with Elliot. Working isn't all that bad.

To whom it may concern: It is communication, not communications...
